

Immerse Yourself in History at GSU in Atlanta, Georgia.

Georgia State University Department of History

Come to learn and teach at one of America's most diverse campuses, located in downtown Atlanta, the media and cultural capital of the southeast United States. Our particular strengths include:

World History: Study transnational subjects like colonization and decolonization, trade networks, intellectual and cultural exchanges.

Public History: Prepare yourself for a career working in a museum or archive.

Southern History: Immerse yourself in local archives. Pursue regional and oral history projects.

Thematic Strengths: Social and cultural history of the U.S. and Europe, maritime history, the Islamic world, and German Studies.

GRADUATE PROGRAMS

- B.A./M.A. dual degree program
- M.A. with thesis and non-thesis options
- M.H.P., or Masters in Heritage Preservation
- Ph.D., including a "fast track" for students entering without M.A.
- World History Concentration (available for all degrees)
- Public History Concentration (available for all degrees)

Georgia State University | DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

Visit us at www.gsu.edu/history.